Residents of KWP senior homes receive:

- Personal, health and nursing care appropriate to the level of care needed by the client

- Apartment cleaning, and hygienic items
- Basic aid and support necessary to assist seniors with the activities of daily living
- Daily leisure time activities (dancing, theater, concerts, trips etc.)

Vienna's Senior Clubs

KWP also manages Vienna's nearly 160 municipal Senior Clubs. The Clubs are open daily and attract more active seniors.

The publicly funded Clubs offer elderly Viennese a senior friendly environment where they can socialize with each other. This special social program aims at preventing or delaying functional decline in older people by providing various kinds of health and wellbeing activities.

Our Staff

KWP employs more than 4,100 people from approximately 50 nations, representing a diversity of professions working in multiple areas. In addition, approximately 530 volunteers, and 100 apprentices are committed to providing high quality service and assistance to our residents.

KWP – An integral part of the Viennese Social System

KWP is owned by the City of Vienna, and provides essential social services for elderly citizens. It is a recognized institution according to the guidelines of the Vienna Social Fund (Fonds Soziales Wien/FSW) in charge of supporting Viennese through city funding. The City seeks to assure that adequate levels of needed social services are made available to all residents, especially low-income residents to ensure their social well-being.

To this end, the City of Vienna also provides financial support to elderly citizens in need of care and nursing services offered by the KWP. Under this scheme, seniors who can't afford paying for those services make a contribution (max. 80 % of their pension income) towards the cost of their housing and care. The City of Vienna pays the balance. If a client receives a federal long-term care allowance (level 1 through 7), provided by Federal pension insurance authorities, this is also taken into account.

Fresh and Tasty

The KWP runs one of Vienna's largest kitchen for scratch cooking. Each day, 36.000 servings are freshly prepared in our 30 kitchens, preferably by using regional, seasonal and organic products. More than 70 % of all ingredients used come from Austria. 33 % derive from organic farming. In 2014 our kitchens have been certified with the Austrian Eco label.
